COMIC BOOK IS AID FOR KITE FLYERS

Kites and kids go well together, but they just plain don't mix well with electricity!

Now that kite season is beginning to breeze in, Pacific Gas and Electric Company has issued its annual reminder to boys and girls--and to their parents--that injury and possible death come when kites come into contact with power lines.

PG&E this year has produced an unusually interesting and entertaining means of providing boys and girls with the kite safety rules. It has published a full-color comic book entitled "Having Fun with Kites." The book tells the history of kite flying, describes the varieties of kites and how to fly them safely, and contains patterns and instructions for building kites.

The comic books are being circulated among children at schools and through city recreation departments. Copies are available free at all PG&E offices. Kites should not be flown, says the Company, without thorough knowledge of the dangers and the proper safety precautions.

ENGINEERS NEEDED

Urgently needed for defense work in federal agencies are engineers, chemists, metallurgists and Physicists, according to the U. S. Civil Service Commission. An examination, requiring no written test, has been announced. Complete information and application forms may be obtained from the 12th U.S. Civil Service Region, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

HAND KNIT DRESSES THAT WEIGH ONLY FROM 8 to 16 ounces are one of the wonders of this modern age. Mrs. James Bledsoe of the Yarn Tree has in her shop yarn that is delightful for very fast knitting. Using a single strand on No. 2 or 3 needles will give you a lovely soft full skirt. When completed it will handle just like a fabric and will weigh only from 8 to 12 ounces. If you wish to go even faster, a double strand on No. 5 needles will give you a dress that weighs 14 to 16 ounces. This garment would have the appearance of having been knit on a No. 2 or 3 needle with only a single strand.

Mrs. Bledsoe has ordered a coordinated package, by Ayr Scotch, containing wool fabric with yarn. The fabric, a monotone imported tweed, comes in heavenly colors perfectly matching the yarn, for they have been dyed together. The yarns are lovely, soft and long-wearing.

And, BOBBY SOXERS...Mrs. Bledsoe has not forgotten you. She is putting up a little kit with just enough yarn to enable you to knit your own bobby socks--or that pair of socks for your boy friend. The purpose of the kit is to cut down expense for you, and to inspire you to learn to knit now.

During these times of wool shortages, it behooves you to drop in on Mrs. Bledsoe at the YARN TREE, in the Golden Bough Court, and avail yourselves of the best in quality and price in the knitting world.

WASHABLE NEW FLOWER TINTS...yes, these are the marvelous new Rayline shirts of 60% rayon and 40% wool--just the right weight for Peninsula wear--in daffodil yellow, petal pink, aqua, dove grey and white--that HARRIET DUNCAN has in her shop for all you women, young or older, who want to look consistently smart. You'll have the warmth of wool with the freshness of a crisp, washable fabric. You'll feel smart and will be comfortable knowing that should your blouse soil, a little dipping in mild soap suds will freshen it for you. Remember...a good-looking blouse is a vital third of any outfit, and HARRIET DUNCAN, on Sixth and Lincoln in Carmel, whose theme is "Sing a Song of Separates," is more than qualified to select this very important part of your spring wardrobe.

LITTLE DRESSMAKER SUITS...in pale pastel colors...are what the COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP has on hand for the smart girl who is already thinking about how she'll look in the Easter parade...or about what she'll wear when she becomes a sweet girl graduate in June. These suits are in diminutive sizes--7 to 17. They are created by a California designer, have nice crepe linings and interesting detail, including good-looking buttons. The colors are pink, beige and gold. They are 100% wool...and can be had for $49.98 to $55.00--a smart early buy--at the COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP, 485 Alvarado in Monterey, for the girl who likes to plan early, thus being able to pick and choose while the selection is complete.

WITH MEAT PRICES SO HIGH it's nice to be reminded that there are substitutes. MAC'S POULTRY SHOP suggests that you try a roaster stuffed with the nationally known Pepperidge Farm stuffing...or a nice fricassee. MAC'S POULTRY also has excellent fresh fryers and broilers. Or, you can buy your favorite chicken pieces--all drumsticks, breasts or thighs--just the way you want them--so that everyone is satisfied. MAC'S POULTRY, on San Carlos and Fifth, Carmel, also carries fresh ranch eggs, and it would be a good idea to write this name down where you can refer to it, because Mrs. Ladd is very smart about buying produce that is absolutely fresh and reasonably priced.

BUSINESS BUILDINGS ARE BUZZING... Business building activity is noticeable all over town. Getting under the wire before a tight freeze on business building takes place undoubtedly has a lot to do with the number of places being constructed, although plans for most of the work have been under way for some time. The pictures show (TOP) the new Mediterranean show (TOP) the new Mediterranean Market, with penthouse above, on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth. Next, new stores by Wilder & Jones, on San Carlos between Ocean and Seventh. These two stores are for rent. Next in order is the building Steve Patterson is constructing to replace the burned out restaurant at the corner of Lincoln and Sixth. In this location will be N. B. Florists, a children's shoe store, and offices for Dr. Edward McCormick. Last picture shows the start of construction for the new Mark Thomas' Hearthstone. The latter, occupying the former location of the Aztec Restaurant on Ocean between Dolores and Lincoln is being done over completely inside and out. POLAROID One-Minute Photographs.

AWARDS PRESENTED AT RED CROSS TEA

A large number were present at the Carmel Woman's Club, last Tuesday afternoon, to hear about the work being done in the Volunteer Services of the Carmel Chapter of the Red Cross, and to honor those who worked faithfully during the two-year period ending July, 1950.

Certificates of merit were presented by Frank Putnam, vice-chairman of the chapter, to 65 volunteer workers in the six branches of Volunteer Services now active with the Carmel chapter. Mrs. Frank Moller, chairman of Volunteer Services, awarded 5-year pins to 27 and 10-year pins to 14 of these workers. The latter group included Mrs. Rush R. Wallace, Entertainment and Instruction; Miss Jane Burritt, Mrs. John Dickinson, Mrs. James Doud, Mrs. Fred Godwin, Mrs. Margaret Hotchkiss, Mrs. Guy Jordan, Mrs. W. B. Swain, Mrs. Floyd Woods and Mrs. Howard Smith, all of Production; Mrs. Francis Foraker, staff aide; Mrs. J. Hampton Hoge, Mrs. Paul Low and Mrs. Kent Parrot, nurses' aides.

Guest speakers at the program were Mrs. James G. Sharp, Jr., field representative of the National Red Cross, who spoke of the volunteer spirit, and Miss Mildred Samuelson, executive assistant director of Volunteer Services in the Pacific Area, who told of the greatly increased Red Cross program, requiring the 1952 requiring the 1951 Fund Drive goal of $850,000 to be raised in March.

Services to the military in camps here and abroad, first aid and home nursing training programs needed for civil defense needs, comfort and recreational supplies for military and veteran hospitals, and home service work with families of servicemen, were, she stated, the chief items requiring a nation-wide 25%, or greater, increase in chapter goals for this year.

A new class of 30 staff aides was presented by their instructor, Miss Elizabeth Fogel, executive secretary of the chapter, to Mrs. Moller, who in turn presented each with a certificate and pin for having successfully completed the course.

During the tea period following the program opportunity was given for those attending to sign up for service in the various activities. Hostesses assisting at the tea tables were Mesdames Rush R. Wallace, Kent Parrot, Ernest Morehouse and Howard E. Smith.

What Do You Say ?

QUESTION: WHAT DO YOU LIKE ABOUT CARMEL?

POLAROID One-Minute Photograph.

MARY KAY KELLEY, Sunset School teacher: Besides its beauty I like such things as that you can walk its streets at night safely. The people and shopkeepers are pleasant and polite. Also Carmel's informality--you can wear jeans and a sweater downtown and nobody looks at you twice. However, I don't think it's a good town for young people.

MIKE HANDEY, Sunset School, 6th Grade: Oh, I like the climate and because there's many places you can go and things you can do and things you can do easily. There's enough kids, but not too many and it's easy to make friends quickly.

MRS. BETTY COOPER, army wife: Its quaintness. My husband (at Fort Ord) and I had some very pleasant memories from the time he was stationed here before. We met friends who've remained good friends. We love its quaintness and feel there's no place else in the world like it.

BERT HERRON, ex-Carmel mayor: The climate, beach, trees, hills, people.

Editor's Note: Send in a question of your own. $1 paid for each question used. Address: "What Do You Say?" Box A0, Carmel.

NEW GENERAL LINE CLASS CONVENED

The U. S. Naval School at Monterey convened its fourth annual General Line class on February 12, according to Captain Thomas J. Casey, Commanding Officer of the school.

Students who have been reporting into the school from all corners of the world plunged immediately the midst of a full academic schedule on Monday morning. Later in the day they assembled for a welcome from Captain Casey and an address by Rear Admiral Bertram J. Rodgers, Commandant of the 12th Naval District, who came to Monterey from San Francisco for the occasion.

Four hundred and sixty-one officers were ordered to report to the 1951 class, which includes 112 lieutenant commanders, 178 lieutenants, 158 lieutenants (junior grade), two ensigns, four officers of the Venezuelan Navy, three officers of the Ecuadorean Navy and four officers of the Philippine Navy. This year's class is divided into 18 sections, three major groups of six sections each.

Primary function of the General Line School is to broaden the professional knowledge of officers by providing theoretical and practical instruction in such subjects as strategy and tactics, communications, anti-submarine warfare, electronics, logistics, Naval law, administration and leadership, intelligence, international law, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship and navigation, aerology, engineering, electrical engineering, mathematics and damage control.

With 343 aviators in the 1951 class, it is necessary that flight proficiency be maintained in addition to academic pursuits, with the accomplishment of approximately 10 hours flying time per month. Facilities are located at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, approximately one mile from the school.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

A meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will be held at the Women's Civic Club House in Pacific Grove this evening, February 16, at 8 P.M. Speaker of the evening will be Professor W. W. Robbins from the University of California at Davis, who will speak on weed control.

CARMEL OPENS WELCOME HOUSE

On Saturday afternoon, February 10, the Carmel Welcome Cottage was officially opened for servicemen of the Monterey Peninsula area. The Welcome Cottage was the culmination of many hours of planning and days of preparation on the part of a group of public-spirited Carmel residents.

The Welcome Cottage is the answer of Carmel residents to the appeal made by Lt. Colonel A. F. Solomon, Fort Ord Special Services Officer to the Inner Club Council for more off-post recreational facilities for Monterey Peninsula servicemen. He particularly emphasized the need for such an installation in Carmel.

A committee was formed to carry out the project. With no funds, but armed with a determination to get the job done, and the 100 percent cooperation of Carmel business and civic organizations, the committee, headed by Mr. F. G. Ringland, and composed of Mesdames Edward Sullivan, Barbara Murphy, William McCabe, Edward P. McMurry, Miss Alice Seckels and Paul McKinstry, succeeded in obtaining and furnishing a suitable location for a Carmel service club. The picturesque Welcome Cottage, at Lincoln and Seventh Streets, is the property of the Church of the Wayfarer, and was made available to the committee by the church.

Among those organizations contributing so much to the success of the cottage were: Lions Club, Kiwanis, Rotary, Carmel Business Association, Women's Club, American Legion, Carmel Art Association, All Saints' Church, Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel Mission, Carmel Masonic Club, Carmel Music Society, Parent Teachers Association, American Women's Volunteer Service, and a committee from the Christian Science Church.

One hostess will be on duty during the time that the Welcome Cottage is open. She will welcome the military visitors and answer any questions they may have. Other than this, the atmosphere of Welcome Cottage is to be entirely informal. It will be open Saturday and Sunday, from noon until 10 p.m. on Saturday, until 6:30 p.m. on Sunday. At 7:00 p.m. Sunday, the Church of the Wayfarer has a young people's sing to which all servicemen are invited.

Time and material were contributed to Carmel Welcome Cottage by the following:

STANFORD PROFS TO SPEAK AT MPC

"The Meaning of Soviet Policy" is the title of the opening address to be given by Dr. Harold H. Fisher at the Second Annual Tri-County Stanford Conference to be held at the Monterey Peninsula College, February 22.

Dr. Fisher, head of the Hoover Library at Stanford, and a well-known radio network news analyst, is recognized as a leading authority on Russian history and politics. He was American delegation chairman at the Institute of Pacific Relations conference held in India last November.

Other speakers scheduled to address the conference are Dr. Windsor Cutting, pharmacology department head at the Stanford Medical School; Dr. Konrad Krauskopf, dean of Stanford's School of Mineral Sciences; Dr. James Quillen, professor of education at Stanford, and Professor Carl McDowell of Stanford's Graduate School of Business.

Following are the hours at which the speakers will give their talks: Dr. Fisher, 11 a.m.; Dr. Cutting and Dr. Krauskopf, 1:45 p.m.; Dr. Quillen and Prof. McDowell, 3 p.m.

A nominal general registration fee of 75 cents will be charged. The fee for students will be 50 cents. Requests for reservations should be sent to Jack Marsh Laughlin, P.O. Box 1629, Monterey.

WARREN TO HAVE CONFERENCE ON AGED

Governor Warren has announced preliminary plans for a statewide conference on the problems of aged persons to be held in Sacramento, June 25 and 26. In announcing the conference, the Governor said:

"There is need for re-evaluation of the problems confronting the elder citizens of our state. It has long been California's expressed wish that its elder citizens be able to live with a degree of economic security that permits them to retain self respect, self reliance, and a feeling of usefulness. It is my hope that this conference will bring together a representative group of citizens who can identify and explore the problems raised by the presence of large numbers of elderly citizens in our State and that from out of the conference will come recommendations which will help solve some of these problems."

"TAXPAYERS UNITED" FORMED

An organization to serve as a clearing house for the exchange of information on governmental activities came into existence last week with the formation of "TAXPAYERS UNITED," a federation composed of county taxpayers' associations in California, according to Charles W. Flanagan, manager of the Monterey County Tax Council.

Mr. Flanagan, active in the formation of the new group, was elected to the Advisory and Membership Committee. He said he expects the organization to be helpful in offering assistance to newly formed taxpayers' associations and in adding strength to existing tax groups.

What's its Power?

FIREBALL!

(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result: a spectacular engineering phenomenon you feel the instant you touch toe to gas treadle. A rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, let loose their pent-up power every five inches a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see why. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, like this:

So the intrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill—and thrift—of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More, you get a tried-and-true engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflow Drive.*

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

Better see your dealer soon.

(1) KEN SMITH, Carmel theatrical personage, makes no attempt to hide his enjoyment of the show put on by Fearless Fagan during the intermission of the Del Monte Kennel Club dance at the Mission Ranch Saturday night.

(2) SOME THOUGHT THAT FAGAN was bored, some thought he was merely uncooperative, but insiders heard that he was temperamental, cat fashion, at being used as a cat's paw to garner funds for a dog-loving kennel club. At any rate, he showed great disdain throughout the whole proceeding, and his only roar of the evening was obviously a leonine sneer.

(3) THE APPEARANCE of Fearless Fagan on the dance floor of the Mission Ranch at the Del Monte Kennel Club dance Saturday night brought wonder to some, delight to others, and fear to one stalwart, who turned his head away in terror as Fagan stalked forth glaring at the crowd.

(4) COOKIE CROUCH and Mary Jane Mettler turn the tables on Dick Sumner and regale him with a joke, shaggy dog variety, in keeping with the Kennel Club atmosphere of the evening.

(5) MRS. ALMA McKEEVER and Mr. Charles Coe listen attentively while Mr. Robert Buckner, left, cinema producer and writer, gives his views on Fearless Fagan. Buckner felt that Fagan, while showing great promise, was lacking in stage presence and vivacity.

(6) MR. AND MRS. RALPH GILMAN came up from Bixby Creek to see the show and ended up agreeing that Fearless Fagan would be more properly named Feckless Fagan, the Flaccid Feline. They blamed Life magazine for Fagan's supercilious attitude.

(7) AT THE CLOSE of the dance, Derek Rayne, secretary of the Del Monte Kennel Club, discusses the party with Mrs. Elizabeth Boyer, Carmel Valley, club president, and both concluded that the affair was an unqualified success. The possibility of making Fagan an honorary member was discussed.

FIRST PERFORMANCES OF "EAST LYNNE" GREAT SUCCESS

More serious than many plays produced by the ever-successful Denny-Watrous management of the First Theatre, of Monterey, is "East Lynne," currently running under the skilled direction of Rhea Dively--the "Who Is It?" of last week's SPECTATOR.

Despite the original serious intent of the novel, "East Lynne," by Mrs. Henry Wood, and despite a few tears we saw shed on opening night by an attractive foreign spectator in the audience--whose language handicap no doubt made some of the overtones and innuendoes obtuse--there was a wealth of humor in the Troupers' interpretation of this melodrama, extraordinarily well handled by the excellent cast.

Most effective and sustained in their roles were Jeanne Rutledge as Lady Isabel and Terry Eby as Archibald Carlyle, her husband. The part of the frustrated and vindictive old maid sister brought laugh after laugh from the audience, though we inclined to feel that the role was somewhat over-played--the irateness, the venom, the vituperation spread just a bit too thick. It wasn't an easy role to play, and certainly showed histrionic ability on Jean Allred's part. Her (Miss Cornelia's) cold--or hay fever--or flu, whatever it was, was almost too realistic and timely. We felt for her. Very well interpreted by young Liz Esterly was the part of Little Willie. Barbara Hare was sympathetically played by Carmen Mercant. And, as the lovable and loyal Dill, John Burgers was wonderful.

Without the talented Rhoda Johnson, responsible for costuming and setting, and Richard Johnson, stage manager, the play would have lacked much of its color and genuineness.

The Olio following the play was hilarious. Responding enthusiastically to the warm and gay personality of John Burgers, emcee, the audience joined in the singing and laughed at the quipery with uninhibited enjoyment. The facial expressions of the East Lynne choir were side-splitting--as the whistling accompaniment to "Listen to the Mocking Bird" was ear-splitting. Funniest of all the Olio actors were Mister Gallagher and Mister Shean (Mister Davidson and Mister Necel) with their delightful quips at our trilogy of Peninsula towns.

From now until April 21, "East Lynne" will be played every Saturday evening, at 8:15.

HILL THEATER ESCAPES INTO DREAMS

"Escape Into Dreams," a recent Italian film produced in Rome, Milan, Venice, Florence and Naples, brings to the Hill Theater screen, on Sunday, a new aspect of Italy's postwar mastery of the film art. Here is a movie from Italy which is deliberately, and beautifully, light in touch.

"Escape Into Dreams" presents the homeward daydreaming of a group of war prisoners in a California detention camp. Various, in their dreams, they visit the cities they have lived in and loved, and of course encounter there the women and children they have also loved. The film necessarily has an episodic quality, on the Grand Hotel formula, but the episodes themselves have a more familiarly human quality than those in the American prototype. Most rewarding, perhaps, is the episode involving Aldo Fabrizi (sometimes called "the Italian Raimu") in a hilarious visit to the public gardens in Rome with his five children. Vittorio de Sica, the producer-director of "Bicycle Thief," turns actor in this film to portray a broken-down Florentine duke, and a most touching performance is contributed by Massimo Girotti as a Venetian gondolier.

Liberally gamished with Italian folk music, "Escape Into Dreams" nonetheless will seem more French to us than Italian, accustomed as we have become to think of the present genius of Italy as a prophetic voice telling again and again the simple, terrible facts of dissolution.

AWVS HOLDS SUNDAY MUSICAL

Last Sunday's AWVS musical was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Banfield at Carmel Highlands. An interesting program was presented by Miss Catherine Winslow, pianist; Mr. James Gordon, tenor, who was accompanied by Miss Angie Machado, and Frank Silva, pianist, from Fort Ord. ARTISTS GUILD, INC. PRESENTS HARVEY WILLIAMSON

One of the most interesting exhibits of oils, water colors and drawings to be seen locally is being presented by the Artists Guild of America, Inc., at their Galleries, Monte Verde and Ocean, in Carmel. The work is by the Carmel artist W. Harvey Williamson.

His versatility is shown by over 50 examples of his work, both academic and impressionistic. Mr. Williamson in this exhibit is showing for the first time a group of abstract oils that are breathless in their luscious color and composition. In this group one should not miss seeing "Reflections" and "Angry Night," the latter definitely reminding one of the French technique in colors. Showing also is "Back Street," a painting having a wealth of depth that received Honorable Mention in the Western Artists Exhibit at the DeYoung Museum, last December.

Outstanding drawings, water colors, and the remarkable water-color group of characters and costumes from the film plays "Forever Amber," "13 rue Madeleine" and others, together with fine examples of portraiture, all go to make what is considered one of the finest exhibits seen on the Monterey Peninsula. The Artists Guild of America, Inc. Galleries are open daily from 1 to 6 P.M. The Williamson Exhibit will extend through February 28.

FORT ORD SOLDIERS SHARE COUNTY SYMPHONY SPOTLIGHT

Featured in the March 6 concert of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra will be several outstanding instrumentalists brought to the Peninsula and the Monterey Symphony through the courtesy of the United States army. Among them are violinist Elliot Fisher, cellist Robert LaMarchina, clarinetist Vita Susca, flutist Robert Drasnin, trombonist Roger V. Burton, trumpeter Paul Nelson, French horn artist Norman E. Lanning, and clarinetist Richard E. Strange.

All are prominent in their fields of music. Violinist Fisher recently completed a concert tour of Europe. Cellist LaMarchina studied at the Paris Conservatory and Curtiss Institute where he worked under Igor Piatigorsky, later playing with the NBC orchestra under Toscanini.

Trumpeter Nelson has played with the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra and composed several works which have been performed over nationwide radio hookups with Nelson himself conducting. Clarinetist Susca conducted "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" for the Los Angeles Civic Opera Co., has played with various symphony orchestras.

Burton, trombonist, and Drasnin, flutist, have played in bands, radio shows, and have also done concert and recital work, as have French horn player Lanning and clarinetist Strange.

Heading the March 6 program will be the Franz Schubert Seventh Symphony, with other compositions by Mozart, Anderson, Coates and Griffiths.

COME IN AND SEE

THE GI'S undergoing experimental training at Fort Ord are a big success as far as their instructors and officers are concerned. The Faculty Division method of training originated last July by Major General Robert T. Frederick, Commanding Officer of the 6th Division, has proved conclusively its merits. In fact, because of the record of the men at Fort Ord, other posts, including Camp Roberts, have switched to the new system. In a recent inspection tour by high Army representatives, the Fort Ord faculty received superior ratings.

The new system's advantages have been noted by other posts, including Fort Roberts, and switch-overs to the new system effected. Main advantage of teaching on the division level rather than using the old regimental system is that training methods are standardized, saving manpower, equipment, and time. Headed by Lt. Col. Thomas J. Lawlor, 71 officers and 246 enlisted men of the faculty have been selected by careful screening to teach the three main categories: Weapons, General Subjects and Tactics.

MENTAL ILLS DUE TO WAR, LECTURE SUBJECT

The effects of war upon the mental health of the world's populace will be discussed in a lecture by Dr. Douglas Gordon Campbell, of San Francisco, at the final session of the Mental Hygiene Forum Series, sponsored by the Monterey County Chapter of the Mental Health Society of Northern California.

The meeting is Friday, February 16, at Walter Colton School Auditorium. The public is invited.

Dr. Campbell, instructor in the social welfare department of the University of California Medical School, is a Veterans hospital consultant, as well as a private practitioner of psychiatry and psychoanalysis. Last year he served five months as Senior Scientific Officer at the U. S. Embassy in London, where he studied English practices in psychiatry, psycho-social problems, and the operation of the English National Health Act. Educated in England and Canada, he also studied in Vienna under Dr. Alfred Adler. At the World Federation for Mental Health Convention in Geneva last August, Dr. Campbell was chairman of the section on international psychiatry.

There is no admission charge for the lecture.

AWVS TO GIVE LUNCHEON

A fund-raising luncheon and fashion show will be given by the Monterey County Chapter of the American Women's Volunteer Services on Tuesday, February 27, at Del Monte Lodge.

The arts and crafts room at the Seaside-Del Monte Youth Center will receive furniture and equipment from the proceeds of the sale. AWVS is sponsoring an arts and crafts program at the Youth Center. Mrs. Robert Aumer is in charge. Luncheon tickets may be purchased from Mrs. L. R. Carey by phoning 7-3151, or at the Pebble Beach dress shops contributing fashions.

Part of the training is like that being received by two Fort Ord trainees (above, left) who wait while Cpl. William Siler gets firing instructions as he instructs them in the use of the 60 mm mortar. More days are spent on the Fort Ord range (above, center) in learning the business end of a .30 caliber light machine gun during the 14-week Light Weapons Infantry Training Cycle. One of the most interesting lethal demonstrations, to judge by the spectator trainees' expressions (above, right), is learning to fire the powerful 3.5 rocket launcher (bazooka). Experienced men, such as Sgt. 1/c Charles Newby (in white helmet) are assigned to the 6th Division Faculty to snap the trainees through their basic training. Photographs by Cpl. HENRY GARLICKI.

NEW PRESIDENT

M. P. COUNTRY CLUB

Colonel Charles R. Sargent has been elected president of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, replacing Dan Searle, who had been president of the Club for two years.

Other officers elected were Vernon Goodwin, vice president; Chester Gilbert, secretary, and Henry Tiedemann, assistant secretary. The board of directors includes Colonel Charles R. Sargent, Vernon Goodwin, Frank Lloyd, J. D. Thorn, Jr., and Dan Searle.

PEBBLE BEACH VISITORS

Colonel C. D. McPherson O.B.E. of the Canadian Army, and Mrs. McPherson, are guests of Major and Mrs. John O. Simpson of Pebble Beach.

Major and Mrs. Simpson will drive to Los Angeles, where they will spend a few days at the Ambassador Hotel.

ON RECENT TEST FLIGHT...
Ensign Steve Little stopped off at the Monterey airport, was met by brother Robert L. Little, Carmel insurance broker. Bob Little, a World War II B-17 pilot, is seen looking over the single seater flown by Ensign Little, a fighter pilot now stationed at a West Coast Navy air base. During his short stopover, Ensign Little learned he was the uncle of Kenneth Little, who was born to the Robert Littles the night before. Commdr. Ed Korrad, Commanding Officer of the Monterey Naval Air Station, entertained them at luncheon.

THEY'VE LOST THE DOME

"We've heard of people losing their heads, but losing a dome is a new story."

Manager Fred McCargar of the Monterey County Fair chuckled. "Our fair board was delighted when Stolte Inc. of Monterey offered them Cannery Row's famous old Dutch windmill, once a prominent landmark on the old James Murray estate.

"Now it seems that the steel dome and the fan are missing, and only the base is at the Stolte yard," McCargar went on. "Naturally the value of the mill is considerably less without the dome, and how it or the big fan, some 35' or 40' across, happened to get lost is a mystery."

The dome itself is about 20' across, and the fair board is anxious to get information from anyone who might have seen it, or the stray fan. Possibility of reconstructing the windmill to its original condition is being determined, and when estimates have been made they will be submitted to the State Division of Fairs and Expositions for consideration.

Because of the historical value, and possible use of the 20' x 20' base as a concession spot, the Monterey County Fair board is anxious to see the old Dutch windmill on the fairgrounds, and every effort will be made to find, or reconstruct, the missing parts.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

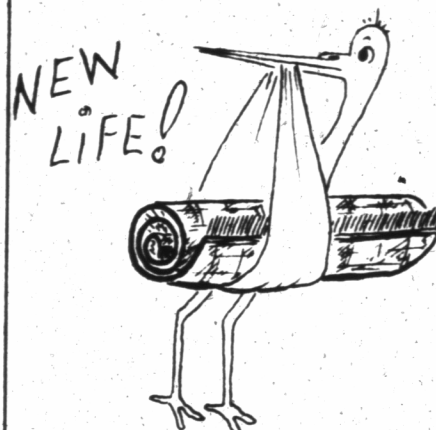

A real "Carmelite," our this week's "Who Is It?", Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, has grown up with the town--not just came here because "it appealed to her while vacationing." Although Carmel has been her permanent home since 1929, as a small child she spent summers and weekends here. In fact, every moment that could be spared from her father's busy life as professor of German at Stanford University found him on his way to Carmel with his wife and small daughter.

In those days El Camino south of Ocean was known as "Professors' Row," because so many college instructors and their families felt, as did the Rendtorffs, that Carmel was a never-never land of beautiful scenery and wide expanses of sand. The Rendtorff home, on its present site since 1913, was the third house in the block and everything in front of it was sand dunes, ocean and breathtaking view--for El Camino was then a water's edge path, and the old Powers Ranch, from which so many lots have since been made, was set out in potatoes. "It seems impossible now that there was nothing between us and the water except those mysterious sand dunes which were such fun to explore."

Born in Palo Alto and having lived on the Stanford campus dur-

Wheatland, first honorable mention; Earl Meyer, second honorable mention; Paul W. Day, third honorable mention.

To be sent to the P.S.A. Salon Exhibition, pictures of general subjects by Ruth Velliseratos, Wilma Cook and F. L. Holsas were selected. Also chosen for the exhibition were colored pictures by Ed. Brooks Lorena C. Dalsing, G. L. Kerr, Paul W. Day and Earl Meyer.

ing the years of her father's professorship. It was quite natural that Miss Rendtorff should take work for both her bachelor's and master's degrees at the University. Interested in welfare work she majored in sociology, excellent preparation for the work she has done since--"deaning." Although she taught English early in her career, she has been Dean of Girls since 1932. "That's a job that never ends," she says.

Always a lover of the out-of-doors, Miss Rendtorff remembers with nostalgia the wonderful year she spent gypsying through Germany, Italy and Switzerland with her family. Although not comparable in breadth of experience, vagabonding into every nook and crevice of Palo Colorado, cooking out, pitching tents, and sleeping under the stars when quite a youngster, also stands out as a memorable time.

Interest in community affairs found her a member of the old park commission, through whose efforts the Forest Theatre was rebuilt. She is now a member of AAUW, Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary educational society, and Soroptimist. "I don't have time for hobbies, for when I'm not working with people, I'm working in my garden." And the simple garden surrounding the old oaks in her yard attests to the time and care put into it.
